

Dear Mr. President,

Happy Birthday! We support you personally and your drive for change not only on your special day but on every day. We hope you can exploit the five doctrines for a peaceful society proclaimed by the ancient Chinese philosopher, Mozi, to united people of all faiths. You alone amongst the leaders of our world has the clout and credibility to call on the heads of the five major religions to a summit, and together with them lead all of us in the world toward the path of change for which you have so boldly called.

Some of the foremost thinkers in recent history have prognosticated the collapse of the American Dream, the extinction of the human race or even the end of the world. Frank Fenner and Elinor Ostrom come to mind. The signs and dangers that they highlighted are all around us. We must act decisively and presently to reverse these trends. You as our leader and the president of the most enlightened country this world has ever known has the unique opportunity and obligation to act.

So on this very special day of your life, we thank heaven for you as our president and leader and we look forward to the great service that you are performing for all mankind.

Best Regards,

Hunter Huang
